

Name KEY

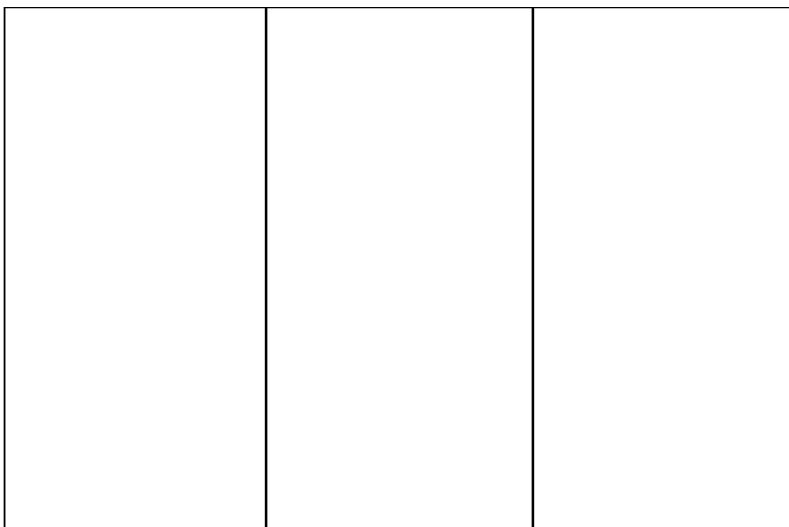

Directions: Match the flags on the left with the correct country and language on the right. Then color the flag with the proper colors.

The Mexican flag has three vertical bands, green, white, and red. Green stands for independence, white for religion, and red for union. The flag also includes a coat of arms in the center illustrating an Aztec legend that explains the founding of Mexico City. Mexico is part of the North American continent and its primary language is Spanish.

The Australian flag is red, white and blue. The British Union flag is at the top representing Australia's ties with Great Britain. The five stars represent the Southern Cross constellation. Australia is an island, a country and a continent. The primary language is English.

Italy is a peninsula country in the continent of Europe. The ancient Romans named it "Italia" meaning "land of oxen" or "grazing land". The flag of Italy is green, white and red. The primary language is Italian